Budget cuts cause salary freezes

by Kenda Burrows

Salary freezes and a "general tightening of the belt" will be the result of the recent budget allocation cuts approved for most Illinois public universities, spokesmen from those schools said recently.

Eastern, Western Illinois University, Chicago State University, Northeastern Illinois University and the University of Illinois have all experienced budget cuts in excess of $1 million in their requested budgets for the next fiscal year.

The reduced budgets were approved by the Illinois Board of Higher Education in March to conform with recommendations from Gov. Jim Thompson.

John Fairman, news service director for Western, said the school's $4 million-plus allocation reduction would create a zero-budget base for Western.

Fairman said "through general tightening of the belt and prudent management" Western should be able to maintain current levels of academic and non-academic program support.

"I don't think we're looking at cuts; we're just not getting the increases," Fairman said.

Fairman said although there will be no salary increases since there is no new money to cover those increases, there will be no effort to reduce the work force.

Fairman said Western would not have to reduce their work force, since the reduction in salary increase allocations would be covered through the normal attrition process.

Fairman added, "If there are unduly heavy increases in utilities we may be looking at cuts later."

At the University of Illinois, where the budget was cut by $8 million, the reduced allocations will primarily require personnel reductions and a suspension of upgrading in some equipment areas.

Paul Fanning, public affairs director for the University of Illinois-Circle Campus, said the university is aiming at a 2.7 percent reduction in staff at all three of the university's extensions.

"The bulk of the reductions will be administrative," Fanning said.

Fanning added employees will not experience a salary freeze, but there will be no salary increases for the next fiscal year.

Wayne Rath, budget director for Chicago State, said the nearly $1.7 million reduction in their requested budget would probably result in salary freezes.

Rath said, "If the governor and legislature doesn't give us salary increase money...there won't be any salary increases."

Rath said that for every percentage salaries increase, the cost to the university is hundreds of thousands of dollars.

Rath said Chicago State is not expecting any problems with utility increases since the IBHE approved an 80 percent increase in utility appropriations.

Heather Haberaecker, director of budgets for Northeastern, said the university's $2 million reduced budget would have its greatest affect on salary and price increases.

"There are no projected salary increases," Haberaecker said.

Haberaecker added that the faculty and staff are attempting to find internal sources of funds to support Northeastern.

She also said the university would continue to increase energy conservation, although they currently have the lowest per unit energy costs for all Illinois universities.

Possible solution near in Falkland Islands

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP)—A member of Argentina's military junta said Monday "we are approaching a solution" to the Falkland Islands crisis after four days of talks with Secretary of State Alexander M. Haig Jr.

The U.S. Embassy said Haig planned to leave Monday afternoon but it would not say whether he would fly directly to London or to Washington first.

In London, government officials said Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher would hold another Cabinet session on the crisis Tuesday. They said they had no word on when Haig was due and there was no comment on reports here of a possible break in the impasse.

Britain's Defense Ministry announced more ships and men were being added to the Royal Navy task force now estimated to be less than a week's sailing time from the South Atlantic archipelago.

Public statements and published reports attributed to government sources over the weekend here made it appear Haig was making progress in his second trip here since the crisis since the crisis began April 2 with Argentina's invasion of the Falklands.

Meanwhile, in Chicago, former Secretary of State Henry Kissinger said the United States will have to diffuse the Falkland Islands crisis if the conflict between Great Britain and Argentina deteriorates further.

"Fundamentally, if it comes to a showdown, we cannot remain even-handed," Kissinger said.

"Here we have our closest ally in conflict with a friendly government," he said, referring respectively to England and Argentina. "This is one of the toughest mediations, but my instincts tell it will succeed."

Kissinger said he was reluctant to discuss the negotiations while they are in progress and because he is not privy to all the facts. But he praised the efforts of Secretary of State Alexander Haig, whose efforts are already being termed "A failure" by some Argentina officials.

Officials start budget watch

by Madeleine Doubek

Eastern's administrators are already beginning to tighten the budget belt following the allocation of Gov. James R. Thompson's higher education budget.

Eastern President Daniel E. Marvin has initiated several steps to prepare for Fiscal Year 1983, including maintaining the student and graduate assistant help budget at the 1982 level.

Marvin also said he would establish no new positions except those required by the Board of Governors, and fill only those vacant positions which are essential to the required flow of work.

Administrative contracts are to be reviewed as positions become vacant, costs for replacements and substitutes will be reduced, and temporary extra help and overtime costs will be reduced, Marvin said.

The steps are being taken because at a recent Illinois Board of Higher Education meeting, Eastern was allocated $29.9 million from Thompson's proposed budget for Fiscal Year 1983.

"If these recommendations are enacted by the General Assembly, it will leave the University with its most difficult financial year in nearly a decade," Marvin said in a recent memo.

Eastern had originally requested an operating budget of $32.3 million.

Hearings for the IBHE budget are set to begin April 27 at the state capitol in Springfield.

"We do indeed have about one-half million more than last year. We did better than most of the BOG schools because we raised tuition increases a little bit higher than other institutions. But it will be a hell of a tough go," Marvin added.

Although Eastern experienced a slight increase in the total budget, the Personal Services budget, which Marvin said makes up over 80 percent of the total budget, was reduced $344,400 below FY82's budget.

Personal Services is that part of the budget which is used mainly for employees and their salaries.

Because Eastern is underfunded and understaffed, the personal services reduction will be extraordinarily difficult, Vice President for Administration and Finance George Miller said.

Funds from non-personal service items may be transferred to the personal service budget in order to maintain personal service funding, Miller added.

Although there is a personal services reduction, Marvin said he does not anticipate a reduction of staff. Marvin added he will work with his vice presidents to control the hiring of employees for next year.

Vice President for Student Affairs Glenn Williams said he did not expect a decrease in the number of student workers or their salaries.

Another major concern of FY83 lies in the payment of utilities.

While administrators scramble to pay this year's utility bills after an unexpected rough winter, the IBHE will provide funding for only 80 percent of the projected increase in costs.

Miller said he estimates increases of over $400,000 in both gas and electricity bills if the Central Illinois Public Service Company's request for a 26.8 percent increase in electricity and a 7.3 percent increase in gas rates is approved by the Illinois Commerce Commission.

"An increase would only aggravate an already difficult situation," Miller added.

Funding from other line items such as equipment, travel, and commodities may have to be used to meet next year's utility bills, Miller said.

First Woman Astronaut

WASHINGTON—Sally Ride, an astrophysicist, will become America's first woman in space next year as a crew member for the space shuttle Challenger, NASA announced Monday.

Ride, 30, is to fly with three male astronauts, all military officers, on the second flight of the second shuttle, the Challenger.

Israeli families moved

YAMIT, Occupied Sinai—Israeli troops removed 23 families from a Sinai settlement Monday, starting a large-scale evacuation of ultra-nationalists opposed to the Israeli withdrawal from the desert peninsula.

Israel is to hand the last sector of Sinai Egypt on Sunday. While soldiers finally began tackling the Sinai squatters, top Egyptian and American diplomats conferred with Prime Minister Menachem Begin's government in Jerusalem about problems between Israel and Egypt.

No violence was reported during the movement.

Court to decide mail rate

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court agreed Monday to decide, in essence, how fast the cost of mailing a letter will rise.

The justices said they will determine, probably sometime next year, whether future rate-making decisions should bulk mailers or people who send first class letters.

Former chief economist:

Budget could be balanced

WASHINGTON (AP)—Former President Carter's chief economist said Monday the federal budget could be balanced by 1985 if President Reagan and Congress compromise on a combination of tax increases, military spending cuts and scaled back cost-of-living increases in Social Security.

Without a compromise, Charles L. Schultze warned, the deficits under Reagan's proposed budget will swell to about $145 billion by 1985, driving up interest rates and preventing sustained economic growth.

Schultze, chairman of the Council of Economic Advisers from 1977 to January 1981, said the deficit will become even more serious because the government's credit demands will be mushrooming at a time when the Federal Reserve Board is committed to slowing inflation by restricting the growth of money for which borrowers will have to vie.

Congressional leaders and Reagan aides are trying to negotiate a compromise in which the president would go along with higher taxes and cuts in his record military budget and Democrats would support smaller cost-of-living increases in Social Security.

FBI arrests Hungarian spy

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—A Hungarian was charged with spying for his government Monday after he allegedly paid $4000 for classified U.S. military documents and microfilm from a soldier who was working with the FBI.

Otto Attila Gilbert, 50, was arrested Saturday after he made a cloak-and-dagger rendezvous with the soldier at the Confederate War Memorial in downtown Augusta. Following arraignment before a U.S. magistrate Monday, he was ordered held without bond and was returned to the Richmond County jail. A hearing date was set for April 30.

Authorities said Gilbert, who until recently lived in Forest Hill N.Y., with his mother, pretended to be a refugee who fled Hungary after the 1956 uprising there but was actually working on behalf of the Hungarian Military Intelligence Service.

Critic explores video age

by Peggy Schneider

A nation which seemed to be mobilized by concern over "Who Shot J.R." could become a frightening, confining world—all due to a revolution in newsgathering and video presentation.

In the future, viewers will have a choice of channels and programs tailored to their interests, rather than relying on three self-serving networks.

In the same future, computer-run television sets may monitor homes across the country, recording and analyzing individuals' viewing habits.

The pros and cons of the "video revolution"—cable and satellite services, specialized programming and reshaping of news and information services—were explored Monday by Chicago Tribune television critic Marilynn Preston.

Preston, the featured speaker for Journalism Day 1982, addressed a four-member panel and an audience of more than 100 journalism and speech communications students and faculty.

A world increasingly dependent on video presentation has forced print media to become more visual by adding television text channels to give viewers the latest information.

Also, by the year 2000, 70 percent of the nation's homes will be hooked up to a cable system, she said.

"The nation grew up with programming for the masses—cop shows, sitcoms, variety shows. (That shared programming) was glue to keep the country together," Preston said.

"What happens with the demassification, (now that cable programming) is being produced for a narrow segment of the audience interested in movies or cultural or religious programming?"

Even the networks which are being

Marilynn Preston

hurt by viewers' turning to cable will add their own cable systems and produce more specialized programs, she said.

Viewers rejoicing over the variety of choices available to them through advances in cable technology may also be losing privacy, however.

The same new two-way system which allows viewers to talk back to their sets is also monitoring viewing habits.

"What if some one found out and broadcast the information (just from looking at his viewing habits via a cable monitoring system) that a local political candidate was watching seven X-rated movies a week? The cable companies maintain that information is confidential, but if you believe that, I have a bridge I'd like to sell you," Preston added.

Creative writing minor formed through student preferences

by Sara Farris

The new creative writing minor, now being formed by the English department, is a response to "an obvious student preference," James Quivey, department chairman said.

Quivey said the minor, which will be available by the fall of 1983, requires 18 semester hours of course work and is divided into three groups. The first group requires at least one basic creative writing class in fiction and poetry and offers an additional class in drama.

The second group requires six to nine hours of writing workshops and the third group requires 12 hours of literature, journalism, library science, speech-communications or theater arts, he added.

Quivey said he does not expect many of the students in the creative writing minor program to be English majors.

"Creative writing courses are so heavily enrolled with non-English majors," he explained.

Because of the large number of students enrolling in the beginning creative writing course, the English department offers three sections in the spring and fall and one in the summer.

In the spring of 1982 a survey was taken of students in beginning creative writing. Out of 59 students, only six were English majors. Five students were English minors, six were professional writing minors, 16 were filling requirements for other programs, 12 were filling humanities credits and 15 were taking it as a free elective, Quivey said.

Three courses are being formed especially for the new minor—workshops for fiction and drama and a Creative Writing II class which also deals with drama.

The English department currently offers a minor in professional writing which teaches expository writing, business reports and presentation of factual data.

The creative writing minor would be beneficial to students interested in an advertising or public relations career or to students who plan to continue their studies in a graduate program, Quivey said.

Four minors arrested in area bar

by Peggy McMeen

Three Eastern students and another person were arrested Saturday night on charges of minor possession of liquor.

Charleston Police Chief Maurice Johnson said Carol Hoffman of Decatur, and freshmen Colette A. Mierendorf, Suzette Anne Locrine and Tamara Lee Renshaw were arrested at 9:15 p.m. in Mother's, 506 Monroe.

Johnson said the four were arrested as part of the Charleston police department's spot-checks of area bars to control underage drinking.

Johnson said the impromptu patrols were "a deal where they will never end, unless we're told to end them."

He said the four will have a chance to enter a plea in court and will face a "minimum fine" if pleading guilty.

Mierendorf said the four were together at the time of the arrest.

Nuclear arms protest needs student involvement

Editorial:

In recognition of National Ground Zero Week, concerned individuals will gather at 2 p.m. Tuesday at Old Main to participate in a march to protest increased production of nuclear weapons.

By participating in the march, Eastern students have a chance to prove they are not as apathetic as college students nationwide are labeled and to demonstrate support of a U.S. nuclear arms freeze.

The march is being organized by Robert Barford and Ha Poong Kim, instructors in the philosophy department. Because it will last only about 20 minutes, students and faculty should be able to make time to participate.

Ground zero" represents the center strike point of nuclear blast and is used figuratively in the title of National Ground Zero Week.

Demonstrations for a cause or issue are still an effective means for making a vital message known. Such actions did not become obsolete after the 1960s.

Currently, both the United States and the Soviet Union boast of an overkill factor of approximately two and one-half. This means that the world can be demolished two and a half times.

Apparently, wiping out the world once is not enough. The United States and the Soviet Union continue to produce nuclear weapons in the hopes of winning the arms

But nobody wins.

Collective action such as Tuesday's march is a beginning—a positive and active step toward an arms freeze which is desperately needed.

One may entertain an attitude of "it won't affect me" and choose to do nothing. But if everyone shares that view, soon nothing will be left of our world.

Give Storm a chance

Editor:

There has been much bad publicity recently concerning Joel Storm, a candidate for Board of Governors Representative.

Remember that Joel has been involved with student government here at Eastern in many different capacities. He has served as speaker of the Student Senate and chief justice of Eastern's Supreme Court. These are the two highest offices in the legislative and judicial branches, respectively.

Joel deserves the chance to prove himself in the executive branch. Vote for experience on Wednesday. Vote for a responsible, hard-working candidate. Vote for Joel Storm.

Jim Caldwell
Student senator

Endorsement rebuttal

Editor:

This letter is in response to the lack of my endorsement by The Daily Eastern News for the position of administrative assistant for collective bargaining.

One of my long range goals, if elected, is to make the administrative assistant an ex-officio member of the Charleston City Council. This would give students greater representation concerning local issues such as street jogging and liquor ordinances. The News obviously did not understand my final objective concerning this possibility.

The News also failed to recognize that if Eastern were reinstated as a member of ISA, students would have three representatives rather than one. Therefore, the News' objection to making the administrative assistant an automatic member of the ISA because it would be a concentration of power is unjustified.

The representation that these two new duties provide are indeed a special project. If elected, I will also be trying to coordinate an organization fair which will feature various organizations on campus in a visible area such as one of the campus quads.

This fair will be used to promote involvement in student organizational activities. I believe that these projects, along with the continuation of the paper drive and teacher statements for students, justify the administrative assistant position as it stands and also justifies me as a viable candidate for the position. I will be receptive to all new ideas which will enhance the office.

Bob Erio

Petrik 'honest' choice

Editor:

We strongly support Cheryle Petrik for student body president. We feel Cheryle's qualifications are beneficial to the position. Cheryle's active involvement in student government has been in many areas which include Publications Board, Student Senate, public relations committee and University Board. She has excelled with her contributions and organizational skills having proven her leadership abilities.

Cheryle offers more than years of experience on Eastern's campus. She is what Eastern seeks—a candidate with strength, sincerity and honesty.

In ending, Cheryle Petrik represents a clear future for student government, a future with hard work, sincerity and responsibility to give to the office but, even more important, the same future for the students of Eastern.

Senator Brian Stapleton
Senator Robert Hohe
Steve Rossetti
Senator Julie Smith

Corrects endorsement

Editor:

I would like to make one correction to your endorsement of Tony Parascandola for executive vice president. Tony is well qualified for the office but I can't agree that he put in many hours working on the paper drive. During the past year Tony worked hard during the two weeks before the fall paper drive, but after that was over, so was his involvement. He has done little or no work since then, and has left the paper drive in the hands of its co-founder R.W. Monroe, with the help of the Alpha Phi Omega Service Fraternity.

Tony was always quick to point out that he was "co-director" with R.W. Monroe but where has the "co-director" gone now? It appears to me that he was used this very worthwhile protect purely for political reasons.

John Modder

Jayson a 'true' leader

Editor:

Wednesday is election day for Student Senate and executive officer candidates. In light of the many candidates and their various qualification and intentions, I would like to add my endorsement to the list.

As a student senator for two terms and a member of senate committees and student-faculty boards, I feel I have a keen awareness of student government and its functions. I also have seen and heard many senate candidates profess their desire to become an effective member of senate, thus making it a more viable organization. Many of these individuals fell short of their goals and failed to live up to their promises. Spotting sincerity and judging their potential is not an easy task. However, I offer this endorsement

Diane Jayson, a candidate for off-campus senator is seeking a seat for her first term as a senator. Her promises are few; her intentions are many. Honest, diligent, intelligent and sincere are the best words to describe her. She is a sound individual of the highest moral character and conducts herself professionally. She is a true leader.

Join with me in supporting Diane Jayson, off-campus senator.

Julie Smith
Student senator

Support 'energetic' Erio

Editor:

Bob Erio is an energetic and knowledgeable candidate for the office of Administrative Assistant for Collective Bargaining. Not only is he aware of the duties of the position but he has actively assisted in their fulfillment.

Bob has shown his abilities through his efforts with past voter registration drives, paper drives and housing and alcohol forums. He has served as chairman of the Sports and Recreation Board, elections and student awareness committees.

He realizes the needs that we are facing such as a strong lobbying effort for higher education and a direct attack on student apathy. The solutions are not crystal clear to anyone. Bob will face and deal with these problems effectively. Please join me in supporting a strong student government. Vote Bob Erio.

Tony Parascandola

Storm's 'rain' welcome

Editor:

I am writing in response to the letters that appeared in the April 19 issue of The Daily Eastern News written by Mr. Nowak and Mr. Hunnicutt.

Mr. Nowak expressed concern over Joel Storm's ability to work effectively as the Board of Governors Representative. He actually likened it to rain.

If Storm's ability is such, it is a more than welcome rain on the arid desert that Mr. Hunnicutt turned the BOG Representative position into.

Jeffrey E. Kehl

Your Turn

Siepkers 'right' choice

Editor:

Elections are Wednesday, and it is very important to make the right choice for executive offices and student senators therefore I recommend Alan Siepker for the Board of Governors Representative.

Alan, as chairman of the University Board, has knowledge of how the upper administration works and plans to better their working relationship with students.

Honestly, leadership and dedication are critical characteristics a BOG Representative must have. Alan Siepker has these qualities. Vote Alan Siepker for BOG Representative.

Mike Liautaud
Co-chairman Public Relations Committee

Fight apathy—vote

Editor:

Apathy. In the words of Bill Murray, "Is that what it is, I think it is." This Wednesday the elections for student government offices, both legislative and executive positions, will take place. These positions are vital in the operation of most student activities and essential to the preservation of student rights. Do you care about the cost of higher education? Do grants-in-aid interest you? Are you concerned with where your student fees are spent? If your answer to any or all of the aforementioned questions was yes, then I challenge you to do something about it. Vote! Elect students who will turn your suggestions to A.C.T.I.O.N. I wish to present to you five such individuals whom I have had the privilege to meet and work with: Lisa Breeze and Chris "C.R." Roerig (off-campus); and Rich Heineken, Anita Busch and Jeff Miller (at-large). All of these people are actively involved in various student organizations on this campus and make a strong nucleus for advancement of student leadership. Thanks for your consideration, and I hope you will meet the challenge.

Tony "Sticks" Weber
Co-chairman Public Relations Committee

Siepkers 'understands'

Editor:

The only qualified candidate for BOG Representative is Alan Siepker. He has the experience, maturity and honesty necessary for the job. He believes in working for the students and understands our needs.

For us there is no other choice for BOG Representative than Alan Siepker.

This letter was signed by 14 students

Mass campaign 'tacky'

Editor:

We thought maybe it could happen in front of Coleman Hall, but never there. Sunday morning Mass in Buzzard Auditorium, and just before it was to start a candidate for a student government position walked up to the microphone and asked for everyone's attention. She proceeded to speak for five minutes on why she was qualified for the office, and then Mass started.

"I can't believe she's actually campaigning here;" "too tacky," and "this is horrible" are just some of the comments heard around us.

If we all weren't so shocked, and if it weren't Sunday Mass, you can bet there would have been a slight uproar. As it turns out, all we can do is go the Union Wednesday and cast a vote for her opponent.

Sheila Keating

Mary Hopp
Elizabeth Cantafio

Vote for active senators

Editor:

Active and concerned students are needed on the Student Senate and these qualities should lead you to vote for the following three candidates: Flynn, Teater and Lesh.

Tom Flynn has worked on the auditing, student awareness and housing committees of the senate. His contributions and hard work show his ability to function effectively as a student senator.

Jeri Teater and Molly Lesh will bring new enthusiasm and ability to the senate. Their involvement with other groups has demonstrated their willingness to work hard. Also, their new ideas for the senate are needed as well.

Vote for active, concerned and qualified student senators by voting for Flynn, Teater and Lesh Wednesday in the at-large election.

Marc Bruninga
Student senator

Vote for experience

Editor:

There are two candidates running on the residence hall ballot I wish to bring to your attention. They are Glenn Good of Thomas Hall and Meg Hart of Carman Hall. Both are freshmen, yet both have a wealth of experience.

Glenn has considerable political experience as a precinct committeeman in the Berwyn, Ill., district. Meg is a member of the Residence Hall Association. In addition, each is a member of their respective hall councils. In short, as senators, each would combine fresh ideas with valuable experience.

Glenn and Meg are hard workers and would be true representatives of the student body. They have my strong endorsement.

Mark Sproat

Check credibility first

Editor:

In Monday's edition of The Daily Eastern News, Financial Vice President Mike Nowak and Board of Governors Representative Dan Hunnicutt questioned BOG candidate Joel Storm's fitness for office. I question their credibility and urge all students to disregard their opinions.

As chairman of the auditing committee this past semester, I performed an audit of student government. In that audit I discovered that both Hunnicutt and Student Body President Bob Glover were guilty of misappropriating student money—Glover of $400 and Hunnicutt of approximately $100.

These misappropriations were easily discovered by the audit. Nowak must have been aware of them but made no effort to correct the situation.

When I exposed this situation to the public, I was accused of performing my duty incorrectly by Hunnicutt, Glover and Nowak. Also, my credibility was questioned.

I suggest that these people take a look at their own credibility before questioning another's and remind them that stone throwing is a tactic practiced by the worried.

Claudia Christiansen
Chairman Auditing Committee

Vote for Good, Hart

Editor:

I believe the students who presently live in residence halls, or intend to live in a residence hall next year should have the right to have responsible and competent senators representing their views and concerns. That is why students living in residence halls next year should support Glenn Good and Meg Hart for the upcoming Student Senate elections.

Having seen Glenn work as a representative in the Thomas Hall Council, among other activities, Glenn always portrayed the necessary leadership and hard work needed in senate. Thomas Hall Council felt that Glenn's accomplishments were reason enough to get our endorsement. By Good's hard work and dedication in our hall council, I am more than confident that those traits will be carried on in senate by talking to various residence hall councils and reporting to them throughout the year. On Wednesday vote for Meg Hart and Glenn Good.

RHA endorses races

Editor:

On April 14, the endorsement committee of the Residence Hall Association interviewed all candidates running for Student Senate in the residence hall and at-large districts and executive offices who expressed their desire to seek our endorsement.

After making our choices we presented them to RHA for official endorsement. On April 15, RHA unanimously endorsed each of the candidates listed below and we encourage everyone to support them on Wednesday.

For the office of: Student Body President, Terry Teele; Executive Vice President, Tony Parascandola; Financial Vice President, John Cole; Administrative Assistant for Collective Bargaining, Bob Erio; BOG Representative, Matt Glover.

For the residence hall district: Glenn Good, Jim Schubert and Meg Hart.

Skiing ban to be voted on

An amending ordinance that could possibly ban water skiing on Lake Charleston will be voted on at Tuesday's City Council meeting.

The ban was considered after the council had learned that water skiing could add to the erosion of the lake shore.

In other business, the council will hold a public hearing concerning the purpose of revenue-sharing funds and will also discuss the city's paramedic program.

The council will also review bids for a pole building, treatment plant chemicals, the repainting of the water tower and water main construction.

The acquisition of real estate will be discussed by the council and it will also hear an ordinance concerning speed limits and the use of decorative street lighting in some subdivisions.

The council will meet at 7:30 p.m. in the Municipal Building, 520 Jackson Ave.

Faculty problems to be debated

Faculty Senate Chairman Lavern Hamand said he expects the Faculty Senate to go into executive session Tuesday to discuss personnel.

Hammand said the senate would discuss personnel problems but declined further comment.

In other business, the senate may discuss a possible proposal on student class cutting, Hammand said. If a proposal is drafted, it will be sent to the Council on Academic Affairs.

The senate was also to hear from a speaker, but due to time conflicts the speaker will be rescheduled, Hammand said.

David Buchanan of the chemistry department was scheduled to speak on the Textbook Library. Hammand said Buchanan will speak April 26 after he has gotten more information on the TBL system.

Student Election Guide

Guide serves voters

The Student Election Guide is a service to our readers to help them make decisions about who to vote for in Wednesday's student government elections.

Students may pull out this section of the paper and use it as a reference when they go to the polls.

The supplement contains profiles of students running for five executive officer positions and 27 students running for off-campus, residence hall and at-large district senate seats.

The guide also contains information about two referendums which are included on the ballot.

Where to vote, when to vote Wednesday

The polls will be open from 7:30 a.m. to 7 p.m. Wednesday for this spring's student government elections.

Students who live in Carman, Thomas, Taylor, Lawson, Andrews and East halls should vote at the southeast second landing of Coleman Hall.

Students who live off-campus, in Pemberton, Lincoln, Stevenson and Douglas halls or in the Triad should vote in the east end of the Union Ballroom.

Elections Committee Co-chairman R.W. Monroe said students need to bring a validated I.D. with them in order to vote.

If students want to vote absentee, they may pick up ballots between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. Tuesday in the Student Activities Office on the second floor of the Union.

Students will be voting for five executive officer positions: student body president, executive vice president,

Board of Governors representative, financial vice president and administrative assistant for collective bargaining.

The positions for executive vice president, financial vice president and administrative assistant for collective bargaining are uncontested.

Three students are running for student body president and three for Board of Governors representative.

There are 11 students running for five Student Senate seats in the off-campus district and four students are contending for four full-year and one half-year seat in the residence hall district.

Because only four students are running for five seats in the residence hall district, the senate will appoint one student in the fall for the half-year seat.

Twelve students are vying for six full-year and one half-year senate seats in the at-large district.

Student Body President

Todd Carrier

Junior Todd Carrier said he is running for student body president to get the "deadweight" out of student government.

Currently, Carrier is chairman of the board of the Society for the Advancement for Management. Recently, he helped in the redesigning of SAM into a corporate structure.

If elected, Carrier said he would encourage businesses to invest in Eastern's student government. Business investments would then be used to increase student unity on campus.

With business investments in Eastern's student government, Carrier said the profits would be used to help create student unity on campus.

Carrier said student morale needs to be increased before petitioning and lobbying against a tuition increase could be effective.

Carrier said Eastern's student government is "stagnant" and "ineffective".

He said restructuring the student government as was done in SAM would increase student productivity.

Carrier said a student concert fee is not "feasible" with the University of Illinois Assembly Hall so near.

Carrier said he would not be in favor of rejoining the Illinois Student Association. He added the organization was not doing anything and was wasting student money.

—Crystal Schrof

Cheryle Petrik

Junior Cheryle Petrik said her experience, diversity and her ability in relating to others qualifies her for the position of student body president.

Petrik has been active in Lawson Hall Council, student and faculty boards, Student Senate and has served as University Board communications coordinator.

She said the Illinois Student Association "can benefit the students" if Eastern reinstates its membership.

Petrik said for ISA "to grow in the long run" Eastern will have to add input into the association.

Petrik said she believes the ISA does have a lot to offer state schools.

Petrik said the grants in aid issue needs to be better communicated to the students.

Petrik agrees with Financial Aids Director John Flynn that state schools should be separated into their own economic entities.

If the state schools would work within their own limits, she said, it would help to cut the budget overhead and in essence benefit the students more.

Petrik said that having trust and honesty with the students is crucial to better relations between student government and the student body.

She added an unfavorable political attitude does not have to exist to organize and run an effective and responsible student government.

—Carl Pugliese

Terry Teele

Senior Terry Teele said he has a number of new ideas he would like to see implemented in student government next year if he is elected student body president.

Teele would like to implement an off-campus student-tenant union similar to one at Western Illinois University. This organization would be similar to RHA. It would be combined with the Student Legal Service to help off-campus students work out problems with landlords, Teele said.

Another change Teele said he would like to see is having a student become a non-voting member of the Charleston City Council. This person would then report to the student senate on the city council.

Teele said he favors rejoining Illinois Student Association, but he would like to see it become a more viable organization.

Teele said he does not favor a concert fee. He said Eastern does not have the facilities necessary for big-name groups to perform.

Indexing grants-in-aid to the cost of room and board "had to be done," according to Teele. Attracting more talented students to Eastern is what helps build Eastern and make it a good school, he added.

Teele brings with him six semesters of experience in student government. He served four semesters on the Student Senate and two semesters as the Board of Governors representative.

—Arlen Miller

Executive Vice President

Tony Parascandola

Junior Tony Parascandola, who is running uncontested for the position of executive vice president, said he is in favor of rejoining the Illinois Student Association with one stipulation.

The ISA has to get its act together and prove to be a worthwhile organization, Parascandola said.

"They (ISA) had the ability and the contacts, but it seemed as though they weren't getting anything accomplished," he said.

Parascandola has served on every Student Senate committee and is currently chairman of the Student Legal Service Board and also the administrative assistant for collective bargaining.

Parascandola said senate conference expenditures should be outlined to the exact cost and the money should not be spent without senate approval.

He added he was in favor of indexing grants in aid to room and board costs in order to maintain the GIA awards.

"If it is not raised in accordance with inflation, the GIA program will no longer be beneficial to recipients or Eastern," Parascandola said.

In trying to eliminate apathy at Eastern, Parascandola said he can only encourage involvement by putting the issues out to the students and by not keeping anything back from them.

He added he did not favor a mandatory concert fee because facilities to have a major concert are not adequate.

Parascandola said Eastern could possibly work something out with the University of Illinois such as buying a block of concert tickets and then providing some type of bus service to and from the U of I for concerts.

—Patty O'Neill

Tony Parascandola

Financial Vice President

John Cole

Junior John Cole, who is running uncontested for the position of financial vice president, said he definitely favors rejoining the Illinois Student Association because only one person is currently representing Eastern.

Cole has been a member of the Student Senate for two semesters and has served as a member of the housing and public relations committees as well as co-chairman of the auditing committee.

Also, he was a representative for the Model Illinois Government, a member of the ad hoc committee on registration and is currently working with Financial Vice President Mike Nowak.

Cole said to control problems with reimbursement and conference expenditures, the auditing committee should check on reimbursements.

Board of Governors Representative

Matt Glover

Board of Governors representative candidate Matt Glover cites experience, a good grasp of issues and knowledge of proper administrative channels as his main qualifications for the office.

Glover has served on the Student Senate for two semesters along with serving on various senate committees.

Glover said he would be "accessible to the students" not only by speaking through student government, but also by speaking directly to the students.

One of the most important issues facing the BOG next year is tuition increases, Glover said.

Glover said the BOG will not want to go to taxpayers to get more funding, so students are going to have to make up the difference through tuition increases.

The BOG representative needs to be someone who will speak out and let students know when important issues are coming before the BOG, Glover said.

Glover said Eastern should "wait and see" what happens with the Illinois Student Association before the senate considers rejoining.

Glover said he does not favor a concert fee.

—Arlen Miller

Students face referendums

by Mike Nolan

Students will vote on two referendums Wednesday when they go to the polls in the student government elections.

A concert fee proposal was discussed by the Student Senate and the University Board, in addition, a survey has been sent to students about the possibility of implementing a fee.

On the ballot, the referendum will read as follows:

• "Are you in favor of keeping the current zero-based concert fee budget or creating a student fee-funded concert budget."

Currently, major concerts at Eastern are arranged by asking groups their price and then determining whether that price can be met with ticket sales.

By implementing a concert fee, about $30,000 could be used as a cash base for negotiations by the UB concert committee when talking with professional agents to book concerts.

Questions were raised whether or not the fee would bring big-name groups to campus due to the concert facilities at Lantz Building.

However, if the referendum is approved it would not go into effect next year.

The second referendum deals with indexing the grants in aid fee to room and board fees.

The wording of the referendum states:

• "Are you in favor of indexing the current grant in aid fee to university housing (room and board) rates for fall 1983?"

Recently, Eastern President Daniel E. Marvin told the Student Senate indexing would maintain a current level of education at Eastern.

Through the indexing process, each percentage increase in room and board rates would follow with an increase in the fee students pay for GIAs.

Marvin has proposed the fee be increased by $3 bringing the total fee to $18 for full-time students.

Alan Siepker

Al Siepker, candidate for Board of Governors representative, has no previous student government experience, but he says this is an advantage.

"I don't owe anyone but the students," Siepker said. Siepker said when it comes time to vote on important issues, he will not feel pressured to vote a certain way because he owes someone a favor.

Siepker said he is not totally familiar with the financial workings of the BOG, but "neither is anyone else."

Siepker said he would like Eastern rejoin the Illinois Student Association. However, he added, ISA can only be as effective as it is made to be.

Siepker said he is against a concert fee because Eastern does not have the proper facilities for big-name bands to perform.

Siepker said he does not favor indexing the grant-in-aid fee to room and board fees. He said this gives the administration a "carte blanc" to spend money.

Siepker said he would like to see a weekly newsletter informing students of happenings in the student government.

—Arlen Miller

Al Siepker

Joel Storm

Junior Joel Storm, candidate for Board of Governors representative, said his past student government experience makes him the "most qualified" candidate for the office.

Storm has served in the legislative branch as a student senator and has served in the judicial branch as chief justice to Eastern's supreme court.

If elected, Storm said he would like to gain one vote for the five student representatives from the BOG schools at BOG meetings.

Storm said he favors reducing the position of the administrative assistant for collective bargaining to a non-paid summer position.

Storm said he favors Eastern rejoining the Illinois Student Association if it becomes a "viable" organization.

Storm said he would consider not accepting a salary if elected. He would redistribute his salary to campus organizations that are not funded.

Storm said he has spoken with Margaret Schmid, president of University Professionals of Illinois, a faculty union, about forming a student-faculty protest day against tuition increases.

Collective Bargaining Representative

Bob Erio

Junior Bob Erio, who is running uncontested for the position of administrative assistant for collective bargaining, said he is in favor of the Student Senate rejoining the Illinois Student Association, even though he favored withdrawing support from the organization earlier this year.

As a representative for ISA, Erio said he believed funds were not being used correctly and school members did not feel as though they were a vital part of the organization.

Erio has been involved with student government for two years and has been a student senator for three semesters.

He has been chairman of the Student Awareness and Elections committees on senate and has also chaired the Sports and Recreation Board. Erio is also a member of the Housing Committee and an alternate member to the Council on University Planning and Budgeting.

He said one of his main projects would be to try and coordinate and organize an organization fair, which would include such organizations as Residence Hall Association, student government, Panhellenic Council and other student groups.

Organizations need to do more things to attract the attention of the student and get him involved, Erio said.

Concerning the control of conference expenditures and reimbursements, Erio said, "There will have to be a tighter watch, possibly from the auditing committee."

Erio said he was opposed to using surplus Apportionment Board funds to finance a concert.

AB revenue should be used for academics, not concerts, he said.

Erio also said he was opposed to indexing grants in aid.

"If we index GIA we will be setting a bad precedent for indexing other fees," he said.

Becky Cox

Becky Cox, junior home economics major from Kankakee, is seeking a position on senate in the at-large district.

Cox said she served as junior class president in high school and on student council. Cox said she would like to see the student's voice heard since she feels it is the main component of the university.

Cox said she would try to make the students more aware of things on campus they can use. She said she would try to encourage more participation in campus activities.

Tom Flynn

Sophomore Tom Flynn, an accounting major from Jacksonville, is running as an at-large district candidate.

Flynn said he has served two semesters on the senate Student Awareness Committee, one semester on the Auditing Committee and one semester on the Housing Committee. He said he believes student involvement in the decision-making process is important.

Jeri Goodman

Jeri Goodman, sophomore finance major from Marion, is seeking a first term on senate in the at-large district.

Goodman said she is running because she believes each student has the right as well as an obligation to voice his opinion on issues that directly concern him.

Goodman said she would like to help instigate a plan to have better student government representation at residence hall council meetings.

Rich Heineken

Junior Rich Heineken, a psychology major from Emden, is running as an at-large candidate.

Heineken said he has no prior experience in student government, but believes he knows what the majority of students want in terms of a senator's voting behavior.

Heineken said he has no radical improvements planned for student government but will vote the way which would be beneficial to students.

Mary Lantero

Freshman Mary Lantero, a political science major from River Forest, is seeking her first term on senate as a candidate in the at-large district.

Lantero served in her grammar and high school student council. Lantero said she wants to get involved and learn about the university.

If elected, she said she hopes to get the student's voice back into government. She plans to get students interested and involved in student affairs.

Molly Lesh

Molly Lesh, a sophomore political science major from Springfield, is seeking her first term on senate as an at-large candidate.

Lesh served in two elected positions on student council in high school and said she believes she can contribute to senate in a positive manner because of this experience.

Lesh said she plans to represent the student body and to execute its wishes.

Sheila McWeeny

Sophomore Sheila McWeeny, a marketing major from Lake Forest, is seeking a first term on senate in the at-large district.

McWeeny said she has a strong interest in student government and believes her enthusiasm and dedication would be a great asset. She said she believes a strong negative feeling exists toward student government and wants to change this feeling.

McWeeny said if elected she would like to promote student awareness of university activities and policies.

Jeff Miller

Junior Jeff Miller, a psychology major from Decatur, is running for a seat on senate in the at-large district.

Miller, who has not served on student government, said he believes one has to start somewhere and the senate will give him the experience he needs. He said he wants a democratic voice in the administration of student conduct on campus.

Residence hall district

Glenn Good

Freshman Glenn Good, a political science major from Berwyn, is running for one of the four full-year and one half-year seats open in the residence hall district.

Good served four years in the senate at Morton West High School and believes the senate should seek the opinion of students more often when making decisions affecting them.

James Schobert

James Schobert, a sophomore accounting major from Sparta, is seeking his second term on senate in the residence hall district.

Schobert has served on the senate for one semester representing the residence halls and said he feels the senate is capable of working out issues pertaining to the student body.

Meg Hart

Freshman Meg Hart, from Arlington Heights, is seeking her first term on senate in the residence hall district.

Hart was involved in her high school student council and has also represented Carman Hall in the Residence Hall Association. Hart said the student body needs to know more about senate and campus activities.

If elected, she said she would like to work with the Housing Committee and serve on the Student Awareness Committee.

Greg Rose

Greg Rose is running as a residence hall district candidate. Rose did not turn in a questionnaire on his goals and platform. He could not be reached for comment.

Jeri Teater

Jeri Teater, a junior sociology major from Springfield, is seeking a first term on senate in the at-large district.

Teater said she has been involved with residence hall councils and the University Board, which has helped her see the value of a strong student senate. Teater said she believes senate is important and wants to represent the student interest.

If elected, Teater said she would help more students get involved in senate and make them aware of what the senate does.

Off-campus district

Lisa Breeze

Lisa Breeze, a sophomore finance major from Taylorville, is running for an off-campus senate seat. She has worked with past paper drives and is a member of the University Judicial Board. Breeze said being involved in campus activities and working with students is helpful in representing diverse ideas brought up by the students. Breeze said she is in favor of making the fee for Eastern's Health Service separate from other fees because it would be more accountable.

Cindy Feltz

Cindy Feltz, a junior from Yorkville, is majoring in finance and Spanish and is running for a senate seat in the off-campus district. Feltz is an executive officer of the Panhellenic Council and believes she has acquired leadership experience within a governing body. Feltz said she believes a need for honesty and dedication exists in student government and she said she has these qualities. Feltz said she would like to improve the Campus Relations and Student Awareness committees.

Mike Gurchiek

Mike Gurchiek, a senior speech-communications major from Glen Ellyn, is vying for an off-campus senate seat. Gurchiek's experience includes Chairman of the President's Council and president of Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity. Gurchiek said his offices give him the ability to represent the wishes of off-campus students. He said his plans include making students more aware of what student government is and answering questions from students.

Stan Hazzard

Junior Stan Hazzard, from Rockford, will be seeking a second term on senate in the off-campus district. Hazzard, a member of the Sports and Recreation Board and Intercollegiate Athletic Board, is a management major with a minor in speech-communications. Hazzard said he is running because he knows what the students want and their views toward the issues affecting them. Hazzard said he would like to serve as a senate committee chairman or be active on a committee such as Student Awareness to inform students of what is going on, and hopefully get them more involved.

Bob Hohe

Bob Hohe, a junior speech major from Glen Ellyn, is vying for a seat on senate in the off-campus district. Hohe, who has served on Student Senate for a year, has also served as chairman of the Campus Relations Committee. Hohe is also a member of the Elections Committee. He said he is running to participate in all areas of student government. Hohe said he plans to keep the students involved in government.

William Howard

Junior Bill Howard, from Salem, a chemistry major with a management option, is running for an off-campus seat. Howard has not had any previous student government experience, but said he hopes to become more involved with decisions which will affect himself and other students. Howard said he plans to fight rising tuition costs and disagrees with the 16-semester hour pre-registration limit.

Diane Jayson

Junior Diane Jayson, an accounting major from Glen Ellyn, is running as an off-campus candidate. Jayson has worked as a student aide to the Housing Committee and said she is concerned with the management of student body finances and policies. She said the best way to voice her views and other students' is to become an active member of senate.

Curt Kensil

Curt Kensil, a sophomore from Shelbyville, is running for one of the five off-campus seats on senate. A history major with a minor in communications, Kensil is seeking a first term on senate. Kensil said he is running because senate needs "new blood" and he believes he can express the student's desires and fulfill their needs.

Chris Roerig

Junior Chris Roerig, an energy management major from Wheaton, is running as an off-campus candidate. Roerig said he has worked on the senate Public Relations Committee and would like to become more involved in the organization. Roerig said he wants to create greater student awareness by having a better rapport between students and senate.

Steve Smiley

Junior Steve Smiley, a computer math major from Urbana, is seeking a first term on senate in the off-campus district. Smiley has served on student council in high school and was vice president of the senior class. Smiley said he believes he can use his past experience to better benefit the student. Smiley said he would seek a mandatory attendance bill and also put some seriousness back into senate. He said he would like to see a better job than is being done in senate.

Jay Zanton

Sophomore Jay Zanton from Geneseo, a major in political science and German, is vying for an off-campus seat. Zanton said he has no previous experience in government, but said his concern for the senate's problems easily makes up for his lack of experience. He said a gap between the students and student government exists since student interest is lagging. Zanton said the senate must continue to represent the students or the senate may cease to exist. Zanton said he would sponsor more open forums to arouse interest in government. He said he believes a stronger relationship between the Daily Eastern News and student government is also needed.

Speaker to oppose ERA

by Frank Garvin

An anti-Equal Rights Amendment stand will be presented in a speech Tuesday, sophomore Liz Bates, member of Illinois Citizens for Family Life, said.

Feminist Sonia Johnson spoke last week before students in support of the ERA. Jeneen Aggen will present an opposing view, "ERA Is Not the Way," which involves explanations of why the ERA has stalled and why it is a legal nightmare.

Aggen will answer such questions as why the ERA is unnecessary to give women equal rights, why most women in Illinois oppose ERA and what makes some women lose from ERA.

Aggen will supply supporting facts and figures to answer the questions, Bates said.

Aggen is a partner with her husband in the Aggen and Aggen Law Firm of Wheaton, Ill. She is a member of the American Association of University Women and has taught law at Northern Illinois University in DeKalb.

Aggen has practiced law before state and federal courts focusing on constitutional and discrimination law.

Aggen will speak at 6 p.m. in the Union addition Charleston-Mattoon Room. Admission is free.

UB schedules pre-finals events

The introduction of a new University Board member and discussion of Crazy Daze activities are on the agenda for Tuesday's UB meeting, a UB official said.

UB Chairman Steven E. Jones said junior Diane King will be announced as the new UB coordinator for the graphics-promotions committee.

Jones said the board will also discuss plans for Eastern's freshman orientation program, which is being sponsored by the Residence Hall Association. The program's purpose is to help incoming freshman and transfer students adjust to Eastern in the fall.

Also on the board's agenda is discussion of the scheduling of events for Crazy Daze, week of entertainment such as mimes, clowns and bands to take place the week before finals, Jones added.

The board will also discuss plans for the UB's summer retreat, which is scheduled for the weekend before classes begin in August, Jones said.

The meeting will be at 5 p.m. in the Union addition Effingham Room.

Batman and Robin, Thanks for a great weekend, does this mean that after 3 years we too will have demented minds? Hey, Bigfoot, bet ya can't eat that pound of spaghetti! But you proved us wrong. Robin - "Are you tired of standing?" Couldn't handle the quarters, huh? We caught you snoring; did you "hair" that? ... EVIDENCE!! "Tennis anyone?" Batman, if you can get some of Robin's tennis ego and transform it into a backhand, you'd be an ace on the court. You two should take my advice: take the money and run (how else do you think we could afford the ice cream). We knew you needed the practice, but quarters in a milkshake? Jumpin' jellybeans, Robin! "There's a turtle!" "This is far enough." P.S. The preceding message has been brought to you by the Bicycle Safety Commission.

Byrdsong accepts assistant cage position at Arizona

by Fran Brolley

A shock and a "freaky deal" are two of the ways Ricky Byrdsong, assistant Eastern basketball coach described his acceptance of an assistant coaching job at the University of Arizona in Tucson.

Byrdsong, primarily a recruiter for Eastern the past two seasons, was offered the post one day after meeting new Arizona coach Ben Lindsey at the McDonald High School's all-star game April 10 at the Rosemont Horizon in Chicago.

The next day Byrdsong was taken by surprise with the call from Lindsey offering him the job.

"I asked my wife to slap me to see if this was all happening," Byrdsong said. "Never in my wildest dreams did I think I could leave Eastern and go to a school like Arizona.

"This was a shock to me, just a freaky deal and the circumstances will indicate that," Byrdsong said.

Byrdsong said of the meeting with Lindsey, "After he knew who I was, he said he was impressed with the kids he saw play that we had recruited to Eastern (Kevin Duckworth and J.T. Coleman)."

With a highly successful recruiting season behind him at Eastern, Byrdsong moves on to what he calls a "tremendous opportunity" at Arizona.

"I think it is a tremendous opportunity to be associated with a conference of the prestige of the Pac 10. There is a great basketball tradition at Arizona and I hope to go there and continue that great tradition," Byrdsong said.

The fact Arizona picked him directly from Eastern, Byrdsong said, reflects well on Eastern's athletic reputation.

"It speaks highly of Eastern's reputation that the people at Arizona feel I could make that kind of transfer," he added.

Byrdsong's decision to leave Eastern was a difficult one but he said after seeing Tucson, the university and meeting with their coaches and consulting with Eastern head coach Rich Samuels, "I decided it would be a move I would have to make."

Perhaps the person Byrdsong will miss the most after departing Eastern will be Samuels, a man he called "a great, great friend."

"He's the best coach I've ever been associated with since entering college basketball," Byrdsong said. "I think Coach Samuels will do a tremendous job with Eastern's basketball program, especially when the new recruits get a year of experience under their belts."

Byrdsong's promotion culminates an incredibly quick rise to the coaching ranks in major college basketball. After leaving Iowa State, at the age of 22 Byrdsong became the youngest assistant coach in Division I history by moving to Western Michigan.

After one year at Western Michigan, he moved on to Eastern for two years.

Men's tennis squad dominates at weekend meet

by Jill Anderson

After dropping a 6-3 match to St. Louis University Friday, Eastern's men's tennis team came back strong to sweep matches against Western Illinois and the College of St. Francis Saturday at Weller courts.

Eastern coach Carl Sexton said he was expecting stronger competition in the Panther triangular and was surprised his squad dominated Western and St. Francis by identical 8-1 scores.

"I was concerned about this weekend and I thought the matches would be toss-ups with closer scores," Sexton said.

Although the netters lost to St. Louis 3-6, Sexton said that the match "could've gone either way" since there were so many close matches.

"We were 3-3 after singles and it was unusual for us to lose all our doubles matches," Sexton said.

Eastern's No. 1 netter Jay Johnson, No. 4 Jon Tuft and No. 5 Mark Munie were the Panther point-scorers in singles competition.

The netters returned Saturday to demolish St. Francis 8-1. Johnson at No. 1 singles was the only Panther to suffer a loss, dropping two tie-breakers to St. Francis' Craig Cherwin.

No. 2 Panther Rob Hopkins scored a stunning 6-0, 6-2 victory over Rich Paeglow, who Sexton said often plays at the No. 1 position.

Bruce Perrin pulled out a three-set match at No. 3 and Tuft, Munie and Scott Fjelstad were straight-set winners at Nos. 4, 5 and 6 for Eastern.

Hopkins and Johnson received a default at No. 1 doubles and the No. 2 team of Tuft and Munie blanked St. Francis 6-0, 6-0.

Eastern continued its domination with a strong 8-1 showing against cross-state rival Western Illinois.

compared to the Lindenwood facilities—the humid weather when playing in the afternoons in Charleston when the Cardinals had practiced sometimes at night at Lindenwood.

"The humidity will be one basic difference," Hanifan said. "I can remember back in 1975 we did not experience abnormally bad weather, but it could be a problem playing in the afternoon."

St. Louis will wrap up its summer training in Seattle, Wash., before the Cardinals' exhibition season opens on the west coast.

Panthers face Rose-Hulman in road swing

by Susan McCann

Eastern's baseball team continues its two-week road trip Tuesday when the Panthers travel to Terre Haute, Ind. to face the Fighting Engineers of Rose Hulman Institute of Technology.

The Panthers carry a 19-10 record into the noon double-header against an Engineer's squad with a 7-7 mark.

The starting pitchers for the Engineers Tuesday will be chosen from right-handers Danny White, Ed Canary and Keith Oehlman, Rose Huhman coach Jim Rendel said.

Rendel said the Engineers do not have a strong pitching staff, which is shown by their team earned run average of "over 4.00, about 4.50."

Rendel said he does not have a left-handed pitcher on the roster and has not had many strong performances from his starters.

However, Shawn Kendinger "has done a good job in relief" this spring, Rendel added.

Walk-ons Dave McWhorter and Erich Hinz will get the starting pitching assignments Tuesday, Eastern coach Tom McDevitt said.

"I think those two deserved a chance to start a ball game," McDevitt added.

McWhorter last pitched April 13 against the University of Illinois and relieved losing pitcher Bill Morton in the fifth inning of the Illini's 11-4 victory.

Hinz, a southpaw, has yet to be a pitcher of record and has not seen much action. Hinz's last appearance was in the final inning of the April 17 nightcap at Edwardsville.

Hinz walked the batter he faced and the Cougars went on to score three seventh-inning runs to edge the Panthers 9-8.

Eastern avenged that last-inning defeat by downing Edwardsville 11-2 and 13-3 in the Panthers' last contests April 18.

The Engineers dropped their last outings Sunday to Marian College by 3-1 and 7-6 scores.

Rose Hulman coach Jim Rendel was not pleased with his squad's performance and said he hoped they would play better Tuesday against Eastern.

"If we play like we did Sunday, I don't even want to have to watch both games," Rendel said.

The Engineers' coach of eight years said his team does not possess much power or speed, but has had some limited success by coming up with crucial hits.

The Engineers' offense is led by Oehlman, Kevin Chaffee and Jeff Ball with batting averages "in the .330 to .360 range," Rendel said.

Panther Troy Harper's three home runs against Edwardsville moved him up in the offensive statistics and into a tie with Matt Cimo for the team leadership in homeruns with six.

Cardinals sign summer contract

by John Humenik

After weeks of negotiating, the St. Louis Football Cardinals and Eastern officials signed a one-year contract Monday to move the National Football League franchise's summer camp to Charleston.

Cardinal owner Bill Bidwill and head coach Jim Hanifan announced in a 1:15 p.m. press conference that the two parties had come to terms over what Eastern Athletic Director R.C. Johnson termed "some minor problems."

The Cardinals were originally supposed to sign the contract last week, but complications in the wording of the contract postponed their visit, Bidwill said.

Several minor problems were disclosed by Eastern President Daniel E. Marvin on which fields the team would use, cost for university services, security and rooms available.

"We struggled with many items, but we believe the requests that we made were fair," Marvin said. "They're (the Cardinals) a good group to work with and they'll pay for their keep."

Marvin said the Cardinals had requested to use O'Brien Stadium but Eastern officials turned down that proposal because of recent renovations to the field.

"We were obviously concerned with the field after placing new sod on it this month," Marvin said. "There were some other minor problems that were cleared up quickly, but the field was the main one."

Marvin said the financial portion of the contract was based on how many players and coaches the Cardinals had in attendance each day.

The Cardinals will stay at Stevenson Tower for $7.50 a day per bed and will supply their own food.

However, Marvin said the Cardinals will be billed for a service charge in distributing the meals. St. Louis had requested a late night snack through negotiating but Eastern officials vetoed that request.

The Cardinals will make three payments during their stay, Marvin said. Those payments will be made once a week and are based on how many St. Louis personnel attend during their stay.

In addition to use of the four practice football fields behind O'Brien Stadium, Marvin said the Cardinals will use the soccer field, which will be fenced off.

Marvin added that spectators will be allowed near the practice sites only when the team said it wanted them. The fields will be fenced off with snow fences and Marvin said only one gate will be set up to enter and exit the area.

"Having the Cardinals here is just a way to say this university is alive," Marvin said. "Overall it will give a lift to the athletic program and the city itself."

The Cardinals, who will make their second visit to Charleston in July, first used the campus in the summer of 1975 before moving to Lindenwood College in St. Louis a year later.

"We moved out of Charleston after 1975 because there was a facility in the St. Louis area that we thought would develop into a better site, but it never did," Bidwill said.

"We're very pleased to return to the campus," Bidwill said. "We felt that it was in the best interest of the Cardinals that we left Lindenwood."

The Cardinals have slated their training camp to open July 19 and conclude Aug. 11. Hanifan said the Cardinals expect to bring 120 or 125 St. Louis personnel to Charleston for the camp.

"I think we're going to have great cooperation from Eastern and we're not that hard to work with either," Bidwill added. "We are really looking forward to coming."

Hanifan and his coaching staff are eager to work on the natural turf as opposed to Astroturf, so Eastern's facilities suit the Cardinals fine, Hanifan said.

"Surely not, we welcome that," Hanifan said of the field conditions. "Concerning our individuals' leg strength, we're a heck of a lot better on natural grass."

However, Hanifan said there will be one major difference for his squad as (See CARDINALS, page 11)

Panthers roll past Bradley to win twice

by Kirby Flowers

Eastern pitchers Kathy Richards and Donna Ridgway notched victories Monday as the Panthers handed the Bradley Braves two setbacks 11-1 and 4-0 at Lantz Field.

The Panthers jumped on Braves' starter Kim Goodwin for five runs in the first and added six more runs in the second to help Richards mark her 12th win in 13 outings.

Mary Tiegs walked to lead off the first game, Penny Berg followed with a base hit to right and Cindy Eggemeyer later beat out a bunt to load the bases.

Kelly Waldrup ripped a single up the middle to score Tiegs and Berg as Eggemeyer moved to third. Gigi MacIntosh then hit a shot to right to score Eggemeyer and move Waldrup to third base on the throw to the plate.

Richards helped her cause by getting a base hit to score Waldrup, however MacIntosh was thrown out at the plate.

Nancy Campbell followed with a bunt single to move Richards to second base. Then Richards moved to third on Nancy Saegesser's hit and scored when Maureen Sharkey singled to give the Panthers a five point advantage.

Eastern tacked on six more runs to their lead in the second. In the two innings Eastern scored 11 runs, pounded out 12 hits and batted around twice. The Panthers later won because of the 10-run rule.

The 11-point lead proved unsurpassable for the Braves as their lone score came in the third.

Bradley's Deanna Butterbaugh walked to lead off the inning and moved to second on a ground out to third base. Following a pop up, Jane Alden burned Richards for a triple and drove in the Braves' only score of the game.

"Today was our last home game and we usually dedicate the last home game to the seniors so we were really fired up," Panther coach Deanna D'Abbraccio said.

"Seniors Gigi MacIntosh and Maureen Sharkey played really inspired ball and the underclassmen put forth an extra effort for the game," D'Abbraccio added.

Ridgway shut out Bradley in the second game which gave her a 9-2 season slate.

The Braves' biggest threat came in the first inning as the first three runners reached base but Ridgway beared down to strike out the next two batters and force the third to pop up.

The Panthers got the only run they needed in the first inning. With one out Berg reached first on a walk and went to second on a wild pitch. Eggemeyer then sacrificed her to third and Berg scored on an error.

Eastern added three more runs in the fourth to coast on to its second victory of the day.

Ridgway led off the inning grounding out to the shortstop but Lori Conine got a base hit up the middle. Then Bradley pitcher Melinda Daniels threw an illegal pitch to put Sharkey on first and move Conine to second. Campbell loaded the bases as she reached on an error.

Daniels threw four straight balls to walk a run in and Tiegs lined a base hit up the middle to score two more runs. Berg followed with another hit up the middle but Eggemeyer doubled to end the inning.

The win gave Eastern a 24-3 record after a split with DePaul this weekend.

"I was really pleased with the effort Sunday against DePaul," D'Abbraccio said. "I think we were a little tired but today we bounced back with a solid performance."
